Some History Behind The Day

Memorial Day

Memorial Day is observed on the last Monday of May, honoring the men and women who died while serving in the U.S. military. Memorial Day 2022 will occur on Monday, May 30.

Originally known as Decoration Day, it originated in the years following the Civil War and became an official federal holiday in 1971. Many Americans observe Memorial Day by visiting cemeteries or memorials, holding family gatherings and participating in parades. Unofficially, it marks the beginning of the summer season.

Early Observances of Memorial Day

The Civil War, which ended in the spring of 1865, claimed more lives than any conflict in U.S. history and required the establishment of the country's first national cemeteries.

By the late 1860s, Americans in various towns and cities had begun holding spring-time tributes to these countless fallen soldiers, decorating their graves with flowers and reciting prayers.

Did you know? Each year on Memorial Day a national moment of remembrance takes place at 3:00 p.m. local time.

It is unclear where exactly this tradition originated; numerous different communities may have independently initiated the memorial gatherings. In 1966 the federal government declared Waterloo, New York, the official birthplace of Memorial Day. Waterloo—which first celebrated the day on May 5, 1866—was chosen because it hosted an annual, community-wide event, during which businesses closed and residents decorated the graves of soldiers with flowers and flags.

Decoration Day

On May 5, 1868, General John A. Logan, leader of an organization for Northern Civil War veterans, called for a nationwide day of remembrance later that month. "The 30th of May, 1868, is designated for the purpose of strewing with flowers, or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion, and whose bodies now lie in almost every city, village and hamlet churchyard in the land," he proclaimed.

The date of Decoration Day, as he called it, was chosen because it wasn't the anniversary of any particular battle.

Memorial Day, as Decoration Day gradually came to be known, originally honored only those lost while fighting in the Civil War. But during World War I the United States found itself embroiled in another major conflict, and the holiday evolved to commemorate American military personnel who died in all wars, including World War II, The Vietnam War, The Korean War and the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan.

In 1968, Congress passed the Uniform Monday Holiday Act, which established Memorial Day as the last Monday in May. The change went into effect in 1971. The same law also declared Memorial Day a federal holiday.

2022 SCHEDULE OF PURCHASE PERIODS & DUE DATES

FIELD ENFORCEMENT DIVISION
REGULATORY AND LICENSING SECTION
410-260-7314

NOTICE TO RETAILERS

If wine and/or distilled spirits have been delivered to a retail licensee by a wholesaler or manufacturer on or before the PURCHASE DATE indicated in Column I, and payment is not received by the wholesaler on or before the corresponding DUE DATE listed in Column II, then the retailer is considered by state regulation to be overdue. Retailers can avoid most problems associated with late mail deliveries by mailing remittances at least five (5) days before the specified DUE DATES.

Regulation 03.02.01.04 requires Maryland wholesalers and manufacturers who sell wine and distilled spirits to retailers to (1) report the retailer to the Regulatory and Licensing Section for late payment (even if payment was received after the due date) and (2) simultaneously notify the retailer that a report has been submitted to the Regulatory and Licensing Section. Reports and notifications must be made for all late payments. The Regulatory and Licensing Section will determine whether or not the retailer is placed on the credit control list.

How to Figure Gross Profits

Experience has proven that few business people know the difference between MARK-UP and GROSS PROFIT, and thus cannot figure profits properly. Keep the following schedule before you and you will find it worth many dollars in the course of a year.

MARK-UP – is the percentage of the amount you earn on COST.

HOW TO FIGURE IT – A brand costs you $50.00 a case and sells for $75.00 a case, or $25.00 above your cost. Divide the cost ($50.00) into your earnings ($25.00) and you will get a percentage of 50%...This is your MARK-UP on COST.

GROSS PROFIT – is the percentage of the amount you earn on SELLING PRICE.

HOW TO FIGURE IT – a brand costs you $50.00 a case and sells for $75.00 a case, or $25.00 above your cost. Divide the SELLING PRICE ($75.00) into your earnings ($25.00) and you get a percentage of 33 1/3. This is your Gross Profit on Selling Price. This means that you earn 33 1/3 cents on each $1.00 in sales to apply to your expense of operation, which ultimately will show your net profit.

Confusing Mark-Up and Gross Profit Can Bankrupt You

MARK-UP/GROSS PROFIT CONVERSION

MARK-UP is the percentage you earn on the COST of an item you sell. GROSS PROFIT is the percentage you earn on the SELLING PRICE of the item. Confuse them and you get an over-optimistic view of your business.

When you relate earnings to sales, think only of Gross Profit. In terms of sales, Mark-Up has no meaning. Gross Profit tells you what you earn--retain--on each $1 of sales to pay you business expenses. Anything left over is net profit.

NOTE: Mark-Up percentages below are converted to Gross Profit percentages by rounding to nearest 1/10 of 1%.

MARK-UP – How to Compute It:

A brand costs you $75 a case and brings in $90 --$15 above cost. Divide your earnings ($15) by your cost ($75) and you get a mark-up on cost of 20%.

GROSS PROFIT – How to Compute It:

The same brand costs you $75 and brings in $90--$15 above cost. Divide your earnings ($15) by your selling price ($90) and you get a gross profit on selling of 16.7% -- 16.7 cents on each $1.00 of sales -- to pay expenses.

HOW SOMMELIERS ARE SHIFTING INTO WINE RETAIL OWNERSHIP

WHAT LONGTIME RESTAURANT PROFESSIONALS SHOULD KNOW BEFORE LAUNCHING THEIR OWN RETAIL SHOPS

BY AMY ZAVATTO

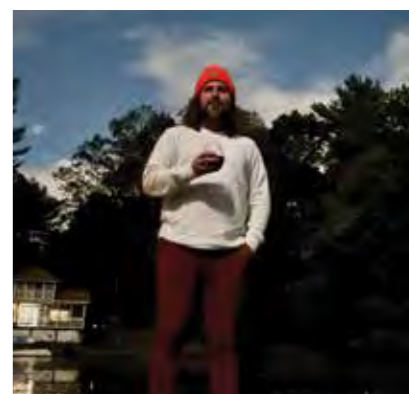

Sommelier Ryan Burkett was living his dream. He had a cool apartment in Hell’s Kitchen with a short, sweet stroll to his coveted job at Momofuku Kāwi, the celebrated Korean restaurant in Hudson Yards. But in March 2020, less than a year after it opened, Kāwi shuttered indefinitely due to the tidal wave of COVID-19—and Burkett, like so many others in the hospitality industry, was out of a job. “There was a sense of panic,” he recalls. That’s when Burkett began to consider getting off the restaurant floor and getting into retail, using his hospitality experience and vast wine knowledge to create a more sustainable career in the beverage world. Unsurprisingly, he’s not alone. From New York to Oregon, there’s been a wave of sommeliers who have shifted their careers not just into retail work, but into retail ownership. But there’s a lot more involved to hang your shingle than passion and knowledge, and that’s even before you manage the expectations of your new customers.

PROCURING A LICENSE

In order to sell alcohol to the public, retailers must comply with the unique rules and regulations of each state. Knowing how to do that will dictate many decisions down the line and will require multiple steps, forms, inspections, fees, background checks, community board and zoning sign-offs, and other tricky facets.

Sommelier Paul Brady had a very specific plan in mind for his all-New York State wine shop, born of his days working as an ambassador for the New York Wine & Grape Foundation, but it required a different type of license entirely—and for that, he called on a pro from the start.

“You need a liquor license, and that process, no matter what way you do it, is painstaking,” he says. “I can’t imagine getting it done without an attorney specializing in state liquor authority regulations.” Brady, who opened his eponymous store in February 2022 in Beacon, New York, was already making wine under his own label with a winemaker friend. That afforded him access to a unique type of license allowing in-state beverage producers to open a combination retail shop and tasting room, selling only state-produced and grown products (a unique perk, as the Empire State doesn’t allow off-premise license holders to sell pours by the glass).

“It took 15 months from start to finish to open,” says Brady, “and I was lucky.”

Burkett, who moved back to his hometown on Long Island when it became clear the pandemic was a long way from ending, went the route of taking over an existing liquor store in a neighboring town, transferring the license from the former owner to him when he opened his shop, Williston Park Wines in Williston Park in November 2020. It’s an option many states offer (although not all—in Connecticut, Georgia, Louisiana, and Washington, for example, licenses are not transferable), but one Burkett regrets doing without an attorney from the get-go. “I didn’t get a lawyer until much later. That was a mistake,” he says. “I should have asked for advice instead of flying by the seat of my pants and winging it.”

Even if you’re a somm or bartender with experience in opening restaurants and working with your state’s liquor authority, like Jonas Anderson, formerly of Agern and now an owner of Folkways wine shop in Croton Falls, New York, getting a pro on board to help navigate the process can save time and money in the end. Anderson and his partner and wife, Natalie Marie Gehrels, hired an attorney to help them keep the process of taking over an existing wine shop and its stock on a smooth track. They opened their doors in October 2021 after a little over a year of planning.

But while transferring a license is an attractive option for its expediency, it means you also must purchase and take on the existing stock, which may not fit into the vision you have for your business.

“I wound up paying close to $60,000 for the existing stock. If I had $60,000 to purchase wine I actually wanted to sell I could’ve had the coolest store in the world,” says Burkett, whose plan was to differentiate from other local wine shops by being the first with a natural wine focus in his area. It took about a year to get through most of that stock, but now the shop is beginning to align with his initial vision and he’s seeing more interest and growth in his customer base. “There’s half a shelf labeled ‘cooking wine’ now; they’re $5 bottles,” he adds.

FINDING, BUILDING, AND NEGOTIATING THE SPACE

Before you can even apply for your liquor license, you’ve got to have your space. And that’s not a suggestion; it’s a legal requirement, which often means hiring other structural, plumbing, and electrical experts to sign off on plans and help you get up to code.

“That’s the unfair part,” says Ryan Malkin, a Miami-based attorney focusing on alcohol and cannabis importing and licensing on the East Coast. “You’re spending time and money with leases and rent and the start-up costs without being able to make any money for up to a year or more.”

Rocks and Acid, Paula de Pano’s shop in Chapel Hill, North Carolina, used to be a dry cleaner, so the former Ferrington House sommelier had to take great pains to get it up to code for her purposes. She started by hiring an architect to draw up plans to be submitted for approval. “It took 11 weeks just to get a building permit because the town had to coordinate with my structural engineer and my MEP [mechanical, electrical, and plumbing] engineer. And you have to hire all these people, and all of them will charge you,” she says.

Even though de Pano saved on rent and by DIY-ing tasks when possible, opening Rocks and Acid has cost over $300,000 due to the myriad professional fees, equipment, inventory, and building supplies. Another bit of luck for de Pano, though, was having a landlord who was happy enough to take a security deposit and eschew rent collection until she had her certificate of occupancy from the city.

Creative negotiation for rent reductions can also be helpful. Because his space was completely new, Brady was able to negotiate with his builder-landlord for multiple months of no rent; in exchange, Brady put that savings toward sheetrock, plumbing, and other build-out items while the landlord was still in the construction phase.

But too often, a landlord simply won't budge. Ivy Mix, a New York restaurant owner and bartender, and her partners Conor McKee and Piper Kristensen were forced to find savings when opening Fiasco! Wine + Spirits in Crown Heights, Brooklyn. “We signed the lease on February 15, 2020, and then the world went to shit,” says Mix. “It took 13 months to the day to get approved for our liquor license, and we actually paid rent that whole year. We received no leniency from our landlord, and we couldn't apply for COVID relief funds.”

But because their plans for the space didn't require upgrades in plumbing or electrical, the three owners were able to save money by putting in sweat equity. “It's not like opening a bar, where you have a public bathroom and a kitchen. All that stuff is easier in retail,” says Mix. “We were able to do all the demo ourselves.”

LEVERAGING RELATIONSHIPS

Reaching out to professional (and personal) connections is also essential when starting a retail shop. These assets provide access to products and a start-up customer base, and are a source of solutions to problems that crop up along the way.

“I think working in hospitality not only offers a wealth of relationships, but it gives you a suitcase of experience that's not just related to which POS system is good to work with,” says Anderson, who has used his knowledge and clout to build a strong staff. For Anderson and other somms who go retail, that means being able to spot a knack for hospitality, even if it means eschewing past wine experience in a new hire. “You train your employees up from the ground, whether they have wine experience or not,” he says. “Interesting people with the right energy can develop a passion for wine.”

Burkett reached out to former colleague Jake Lewis, the corporate beverage director for Momofuku, to help him learn the ropes of purchasing, checking in monthly to go over numbers and be an all-around sounding board. de Pano, too, tapped into a strong support system from her years at Ferrington, including a former customer who worked for the town and helped with her planning permit.

“Our distributors were really wonderful because we were buying a lot of things that we couldn't take but really wanted, and they were gracious to hold these wines for a couple of months until we opened,” says Sergio Licea, who opened Flor Wines in Portland, Oregon, with Le Pigeon wine director Andrew Fortgang. “They were also wonderful in working with us on allocation, even if we didn't have the capital right away. They knew we were going to take care of them.”

BUILDING A CUSTOMER BASE

One of the biggest learning curves is understanding that building a customer base at a boutique beverage shop happens at a much slower pace than it does at a hot new restaurant. “We come from busy restaurants and are used to being active all day and seeing the results of our labor right away,” says Licea. “Building clientele in a shop takes time.”

Because Flor started as an online-only venture that turned into a brick and mortar shop, virtual outreach has been a vital part of its business. Building an email list and being consistent with social media channels, like the weekly Wine Region Wednesday and case discount posts on Instagram, helps. But the personal touch of both owners is a big part of the draw to bring people inside, too. “The most important thing is to fill the space with your character,” Licea adds.

While Anderson loves pouring interesting finds for his customers, he and Gehrels have set up Folkways so that any customer can navigate the stock on their own, by making sure each wine has a detailed, clear description of what it is and where it's from.

They've also created more buzz by offering hospitality-related events, like flower-arranging classes. “People who work in hospitality have that strong desire of hosting,” says Anderson. “That's what I was afraid of in retail—I was nervous that it would be too transactional, but it doesn't have to be.” ■

MARYLAND WINE

MARYLAND WINE IS...

GOOD FOR WINE LOVERS

Maryland's 85 wineries produce superb, handcrafted wines that compete with national brands, while highlighting all the benefits of buying local.

GOOD FOR AGRICULTURE

Maryland wineries support (and grow!) over 800 acres of grapes throughout the state. Grapes are a long-term crop, preserving open space and encouraging land preservation.

GOOD FOR TOURISM

Our industry attracts nearly 400,000 visitors annually to our wineries and wine festivals and events. These visitors spend their dollars at wineries, neighboring restaurants and accommodations.

GOOD FOR MARYLAND

Our wineries provide employment and tax revenue, supporting Maryland's rural economy by creating jobs that create tourism, preserve land and encourage agriculture. Maryland's wineries create 100 million in economic activity annually.

JOIN THE CONVERSATION

Facebook and Twitter @MDwine and be a part of the growth of great local wine industry.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that only 3 out of every 100 bottles of wine sold in the state are bottles of Maryland wine. It's not a lot, but it's growing, and if you buy more local wine, you create more local jobs, grow more vineyards and help preserve our rural economy.

JOIN MARYLAND WINE MONTH

We're promoting stores and restaurants that support Maryland wine during Maryland Wine month in March.

THE THREE-TIER ALCOHOL DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM

WHY IT WORKS

For over 79 years, the beverage alcohol industry has successfully served consumers and communities by distributing wine, spirits and beer through a three-tier system of licensed suppliers, wholesalers and retailers. Every state established this system after the repeal of Prohibition in 1933. Designed to prevent the abuses that led to Prohibition, the three-tier system has created the most innovative, competitive and consumer-friendly system in the world today.

Because of the three-tier system, Americans have access to an astounding variety and selection of products in every category, at reasonable and dependable prices.

The three-tier system is the model of social responsibility. Suppliers, wholesalers and retailers all play a crucial role in providing outstanding choice and availability, while protecting the integrity and quality of alcoholic beverages.

The system creates a framework of regulations, which mandates responsibility and accountability in beverage alcohol distribution.

Consumers benefit from the three-tier system every day through lower prices and greater selection. Boutique distillers and wineries are able to get their products to a wider range of outlets, and small retailers have access to a greater variety of product at lower prices through wholesalers.

BENEFITS OF THREE-TIER REGULATIONS

- Efficiency in collecting taxes
- Preventing the sale of alcohol to minors
- Fostering and overseeing responsible competition
- Creating balance between and within the tiers
- Ensuring public safety
- Preventing the sale of counterfeit and dangerous or deadly products

THE TIERS

Producers of wine and spirits, such as wineries and distilleries, as well as importers.

DISTRIBUTORS

Intermediaries that purchase wine and spirits from suppliers to efficiently distribute to retailers.

A variety of stores, as well as restaurants, bars, stadiums and hotels, that sell wine and spirits to consumers for consumption.

Disrupting this regulated chain would have disastrous ramifications on public safety and marketplace stability.

Vertical integration would benefit only large-chain businesses. And while it might encourage lower prices on select, mass-marketed items through big-box stores, it will cost the consumer, other players in the market and state governments in the end. Prices will likely increase; retailers will be driven out of business; innovation will decrease; consumer choice will be limited; tax revenues will decline; state regulatory expenses will increase; and jobs will be lost.
